

1. A set of instructions that instruct the computer to carry out tasks is called programming.
2. Programming is important to enhance and increase to power of computers, mobiles, etc
3. The feature of object oriented programming is supported by java.
4. An object is an entity with state and behavior. It would be intellectual and physical.
5. It is a collection of items with similar characteristics.
6. It is default signature predefined in JVM.